Mondale, Question 'A' Hoyer Do Well Here

by Elaine Skolnik

When the votes were tallied in Greenbelt on November 6, it was clear that Ronald Reagan would be reelected President, that Steny Hoyer would win big again and that the TRIM amendment would carry (see charts).

Although the Democratic team of Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro captured 55.1% of the vote, it was not nearly enough to presage a victory for the Democrats. Reagan and Bush gathered 44.2% of the total vote in the city. County-wide it was Mondale over Reagan but statewide it was Reagan's victory.

In the Congressional race Hoyer was top vote getter, trouncing his opponent 71% to 29%. Hoyer reaped 81% of the Greenbelt vote over his opponent in 1980.

Sitting Circuit Court Judges Arthur M. Monty Ahalt, Jr. and

G. R. Hovey Johnson won in Greenbelt, and the county, and will retain their seats on the bench. Court of Appeals Judge James F. Couch, Jr., Special Appeals Judges Rosalyn B. Bell and John Garrity were given the nod to continue in office.

Question A, TRIM amendment, won by almost two to one in Greenbelt and was approved in the county.

The turnout of 8,382 voters represents 76.4% of the 10,977 eligible Greenbelt voters. In 1980, 76.1% of the 9,807 eligible voters trekked to the polls in the city.

Hallowe'en Party II

On Nov. 2 a fracas occurred at Eleanor Roosevelt High School when some DuVal High School students entered ERHS about 10:30 a.m. and a fight ensued. The Greenbelt police estimated that about 200 students were involved with about equal numbers on both sides. The invasion was reportedly in retaliation for some ERHS students' crashing a Hallowe'en party the previous week.

When officers of the Greenbelt department responded to the scene, they set up a perimeter around the school and broke up the fight. A police spokesperson said that the DuVal students left the school with relatively little trouble. The police maintained a highly visible presence at the school for the rest of the school day. The police reported no serious injuries. However, one DuVal student was arrested and charged with possession of a handgun.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE IN THE EYE OF THE CAMERA, COUNCIL ASKS

by Mary Lou Williamson

Whether city council should cablecast all its meetings and public hearings or just those of particular public interest is one of the touchiest political problems council is facing this fall. "Cable shouldn't be a forum for electioneering," councilmember Toni Bram stated at council's first attack on the issue at the October 18 meeting.

Some members of council suggested that "looking good" on camera may have nothing to do with job performance on council and that therefore cablecasting all council meetings would not be responsible use of the city's government channel—A-10. Others, naturally, do not agree at all. "Electioneering is part of being on the council," retorted mayor pro-tem Richard Pilski with a broad grin. "People watching the show will be persuaded (who's doing a good job)," he said, only half in jest. "I see nothing wrong with cablecasting every meeting. To give council the right to choose what the public will see is worse," he accused. "Anything we do at this (council) table is important from gavel to gavel."

"We were elected to know what is important and what is not," countered Bram, who favors a selective approach to cable casting.

"The City of Greenbelt is woefully behind in its cable operations for its citizens," stated council member Tom White. "We've dawdled with public access and with the government channel, A-10. The Bulletin Board is miniscule compared to cablecasting the council in action." Cablecasting meetings will open the door for the public, he said.

White favors use of part-time employees to operate the camera and audio, or possibly volunteers. City staff puts the cost at about $1,000 a year for part-time help to cover all council meetings and public hearings. Bram agreed with White on hiring part-time workers rather than trying to use present city staff, who might be trained to use the equipment but are already working full-time for the city in other jobs.

But Bram argued against White's open door. "Let's be selective," she urged her fellow members. "Quality over quantity. Don't be so vain as to think the public is interested in everything we do."

Speaking from the audience, Sandra Barnes favored cablecasting "all of the council meetings. I don't think it's up to council to decide what the public is going to see." Different people have different reasons, she said, for what they find interesting.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld suggested council send the issue to the city's Ad Hoc committee on the use of the city's Public Access channel. "Let's ask them how they would view it."

Pilski pushed for immediate purchase of equipment "while we're studying how to use it." Council has $5,000 in its current budget earmarked for video equipment. "... two cameras, lighting, dressing rooms. Let's do it up properly," Pilski said, gleefully. The opposition gagged, while the audience rolled with laughter at the thought of hot lights melting council's make up.

Philip Barnacz, Hunting Ridge, offered council another concern: "If you put a TV camera in this room, people (in the audience) will want to be on TV. You may have to shorten your agenda."

City Solicitor Emmett Nanna told council members that it is normal among other city councils to limit public participation to addressing council under "petitions and requests" early in each agenda and, further, limiting each individual to two minutes. "You may need to sit down and redo your rules," he told council.

Council agreed to cablecast the two public hearings (October 29 and 30) and to refer the question of cablecasting "some" versus "all" council meetings to the Ad Hoc Committee for their comments.

Approximately 225 ninth graders will be accepted into the program at Eleanor Roosevelt, and in addition a limited number of tenth grade students will be accepted.

Acceptance is through competitive testing and consideration of academic standing based on 1983-84 grades and the first quarter of the current school year in English, social studies, science and mathematics. The entrance examination will be Saturday, January 19.

Students who are accepted are required to complete a four-year program of highly structured courses in scientific and technological fields as well as to take courses in language arts and the humanities. Irish Tragedy, British Comedy Come to Utopia

An evening of Irish tragedy and British comedy comes to the Utopia Theater stage November 16 as the Greenbelt Players open their second month of weekend plays.

The Greenbelt Arts Center's resident dramatic troupe will begin with "Riders to the Sea," a John Synge one-act play called one of the finest tragedies ever written.

Director of this first play is Judy Holland, who directed "Diary of Anne Frank" and other plays here as well as acting in many productions.

The second play of the evening is a one-act farce, "Black Comedy" by Peter Shaffer, who is best known for "Amadeus" and "Equus." The New York World Journal Tribune says the play is "like the rediscovery of laughter."

County Children to Vote For Favorite Book

This year almost everyone can vote! This November all children up to and including seventh graders may celebrate Children's Book Week and learn how the election process works for voting for their favorite books at any branch library or bookmobile in Prince Georges County during the week of November 5-10.

Results of the Children's Book Election will be announced on Wednesday, November 14.

Director Frieda Schwartz says it is a "theatrical switch by reversing dark and light" but won't give away more of the plot. A Windsor Green resident, Schwartz is from New York, where she attended the High School for the Performing Arts.

The plays run Friday and Saturday nights beginning at 8:15 p.m. through December 1. The November 23 performance will be signed for the hearing impaired.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
 - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative Member NewsA Possible Solution to the Parking Problem

The City Manager recommended, and the City Council agreed, that parking will be restricted to two hours from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. every day of the week in the parking aisle on city property nearest to the store and in the parking strip between the store and the theater.

Co-op will have similar regulations in the private area containing the loading docks and the loading area, and will enforce these regulations by means of towing.
